Inspiring blue business

See, experience and interact with tomorrow's ocean business solutions today in Nor-Shipping's unique Blue Economy hall.

The Blue Economy hall is a new space for a new way of doing business. First introduced in 2019, this dedicated area houses innovative ideas, companies and ways of working that utilise ocean resources responsibly – helping safeguard the environment rather than simply exploiting it.

Designed to bring together players from different sectors, industries and perspectives, the hall focuses on how to balance sustainability with commercial growth; sharing knowledge, inspiring ideas and facilitating profitable partnerships.

Meet ambitious companies from sectors including maritime, finance, energy, the ocean industries, tech, and many more. All are unique, but all share the same objective; building sustainable business success in the new blue economy.

Future goals

Sustainability is central to everything we do at Nor-Shipping. We are committed to supporting and enabling the UN Sustainable Development Goals (with particular reference to goals 5, 13, 14, 17) and proudly partner with the United Nations Global Compact and its Action Platform for Sustainable Ocean Business.

As we aim to practice what we preach, in 2019 we became the first within the maritime and ocean event segment to apply for and achieve ISO 20121 certification. This standard (The Sustainable Events Management System Standard for Events Organisations) involves focusing on areas including transportation, waste disposal, energy use and supplier standards, amongst others, to ensure we lower our own carbon footprint, while helping our stakeholders address theirs.

Environmental sustainability and commercial sustainability are increasingly intrinsically connected, and, through the Blue Economy hall, we can promote this development and help participants achieve future goals.

Leading the way

Nor-Shipping's Ocean Leadership Conference gathers a unique, high profile and diverse audience of ocean stakeholders in Lillestrøm to share knowledge, inspire development and unlock opportunity.

There's nothing like the Ocean Leadership Conference. Industry, political, academic, finance and other public and private sector leaders from around the world converge to discuss current issues and plot courses for a profitable, sustainable future.

From members of the Norwegian Royal Family, to regulators, shipowners and high-tech entrepreneurs, every speaker and attendee has a desire to learn, collaborate and contribute. This year's conference will focus on #ACTION taken, results achieved and how business can rise to the challenges on the horizon, transforming potential into profit.

Keynote speeches, presentations, and discussions will focus on three primary themes:

MONEY encompassing ship finance, new business models and potential opportunities for different stakeholders working in collaboration to realise profitable ocean space opportunities in an environmentally responsible way.

POWER featuring regulators, state authorities, cargo owners, suppliers, leading shipowners and suppliers who are shaping how the industry interacts with new technologies, financing tools and changing trade structures to enable new and environmentally sustainable business models.

PEOPLE meet influential academics, next generation leaders, and pioneers, both within and outside the industry, all of whom can inspire, challenge and serve as key catalysts for change.

Be an ocean leader.
Join us on 10 January.

Nor-Shipping Awards

Encouraging efforts in areas critical to our industry's future is the motivation behind the Nor-Shipping Awards program. For Nor-Shipping 2022 innovative ship design, new ocean solutions and young entrepreneurship are in focus, each with its own award.

At every Nor-Shipping, some of the most popular events are the awards honouring leaders in the maritime industry. Decided by an expert, high profile jury, these are focused on areas key to the sustainable success of business activity in the ocean space.

With our three accolades – the Next Generation Ship Award, the Young Entrepreneur Award and the newly launched Ocean Solutions Award – the award programme covers the people, technology and concepts that are set to define the future of maritime. Anyone wishing to showcase unique ability and innovation should consider entering, with nomination forms now available at the Nor-Shipping website. The industry always watches these awards, and the profile boost a win can give your business can not be overstated.

Each of the three Nor-Shipping 2022 awards initiatives complements Nor-Shipping's overall theme of showcasing those taking positive #ACTION within the ocean space. All the winners will be announced on 10 January at the Nor-Shipping Opening Ceremony in Oslo City Hall.

"That was fantastic for the business, not to mention a huge personal honour for me. Nor-Shipping is one of the world's leading maritime fairs, and arguably the leader in terms of showcasing innovation, so it was a critical chapter in our story so far. I'd encourage anyone else to go for it. It can make a real difference to your business."

Tuomas Riski
Norsepower CEO and Co-founder, winner of the Young Entrepreneur Award 2017.

Opening Ceremony

The grand opening of Nor-Shipping will take place Monday 10 January 2022, hosted by the mayor of Oslo at Oslo City Hall.

The traditional Opening Ceremony is to be held in the majestic main hall, and will include awards presentations, a focus on positive sustainable #ACTION, music, and high-profile speakers. His Majesty King Harald of Norway will again be invited as Guest of honour.

The main ceremony will be followed by an exclusive network reception. The Opening Ceremony will be informative, but also enjoyable. Nor-Shipping is known as an arena where doing business is a pleasure, as industry colleagues network and build fruitful relationships in environments that are often as entertaining as they are productive.

The winners of the Nor-Shipping Young Entrepreneur Award, Ocean Solutions Award and Next Generation Ship Award will be revealed at the ceremony. Rather than a celebration of the past and present we want to use the Opening Ceremony to set sights firmly on the future – to identify and help enable new and sustainable business opportunities in the ocean for our core maritime audience.

After Work

2022 sees the Nor-Shipping social scene moving to one of Oslo's hottest locations, as we invite you to relax, network and enjoy After Work at Aker Brygge.

Prime position

Aker Brygge is the jewel in Oslo's hospitality crown. Sitting alongside the sparkling water of the Oslo Fjord, this convenient, city centre location offers a lively mix of bars, restaurants and cafes.

A unique networking arena

Aker Brygge's prime venues will create a dedicated industry 'neighbourhood', where you can meet the maritime people that matter in a relaxed, informal and fun atmosphere. Whether you want to book your own venue, meet before or after key events, or simply eat, drink and perhaps dance the night away, After Work at Aker Brygge has just what you need, where you need it.

After Work can work for you.
Come and connect at Aker Brygge.

Welcome to the neighbourhood!
